The administration of criminal justice in U.S. federal and state court systems. Topics include an analysis of how Americans accused of crimes proceed through the court system. Strengths and weaknesses of the contemporary American court system will be evaluated.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U630 Treating Offenders 3 Credit Hours

The philosophy, programs, policies, and problems associated with responses to crime. Topics include an evaluation of the ways in which offenders are diverted from the criminal justice system via other social service agencies, punished in public institutions and communities, and monitored upon completion of their sentence.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U635 Public Safety Administration 3 Credit Hours

Problems, processes, and theories of communication, decision-making, and control in public safety agencies. Topics include an analysis of each segment of the criminal justice system and related social service agencies, including how agencies work with one another to process offenders and divert potential offenders from the criminal justice system.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U640 Place and Crime 3 Credit Hours

Theoretical, methodological, and ethical foundations of place-based criminology. Topics include an analysis of the ways in which statistical data is applied to the study of criminogenic neighborhood factors and crime rates. Theories related to the social control of high-crime neighborhoods are evaluated, as are the ethics associated with policing these types of communities.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U645 Children and Crime 3 Credit Hours

Identification and treatment of youthful offenders in the context of juvenile justice systems. Topics include an analysis of the prevention and intervention strategies in the juvenile justice process, the social factors that produce youthful offending, and public responses to juvenile offenders.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U650 Victim Services 3 Credit Hours

Problems, processes, and theories of communication, decision-making, and control in victim service agencies. Topics include an evaluation of how victims of crime are handled within and outside of the criminal justice system, including how agencies work with one another to address victim needs.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U655 Violent Crime 3 Credit Hours

Theories, causes, consequences, and prevention of violent acts. Topics include trends and patterns, violent offenders, typologies of violent behavior, social construction of violence, and criminal justice responses. Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U660 Applied Qualitative Methods 3 Credit Hours

Research techniques and ethical considerations raised by the genres of ethnography, content analysis, interviews, focus groups, and participant observation. Activities include the design of an original study in one or more of these methods and the dissemination of findings in written and oral formats.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U665 Applied Quantitative Methods 3 Credit Hours

Research techniques and ethical considerations raised by the use of statistics in research design, data collection, and data analysis. Activities include the design of an original study using quantitative methods, and dissemination of findings in written and oral formats.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U670 Advanced Criminological Theory 3 Credit Hours

Traditional and contemporary theoretical paradigms applied to current crime trends, with emphasis on the impact of criminological theory on public responses to violent and non-violent crimes. Examples of theories to be discussed include Conflict/Critical, Labeling, Feminist, Social learning, Social bonding, Strain, General strain, Lifecourse, Deterrence, Rational choice, Routine Activities, and Lifestyle.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U675 Critical Issues in Criminal Justice 3 Credit Hours

Recent public policies adopted in response to crime, such as those intended to deter crime, address victim needs, rehabilitate offenders, improve community-police relationships, protect civil liberties, or create new crimes (e.g., new forms of cybercrime, abortion, etc.). Topics include an evaluation of how such policies are developed and implemented, and an analysis of the effects on society or a particular social group.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program, or permission of the Graduate Coordinator.

CRJU U680 Internship 3 Credit Hours

A planned program of observation, study and work in selected criminal justice and related agencies. Meeting prerequisites does not guarantee an internship placement. A history of illegal drug use or experimentation, a criminal record, location of desired internship, inability to attend on-campus seminars, and other issues may prevent program acceptance as an intern.

Prerequisite(s): Minimum of 9 earned graduate credit hours from USC Upstate in Criminal Justice, minimum GPA of 3.0 and consent of instructor.

CRJU U690 Capstone I 3 Credit Hours

An in-depth study of a topic selected by the student which showcases the student's skills and knowledge and contributes to the general knowledge in the criminal justice field. Working with their thesis committee, the student develops a research question, completes a literature review, and designs a research project.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program and 9 hours graduate credit from USC Upstate in Criminal Justice.

CRJU U695 Capstone II 3 Credit Hours

Completion of the capstone research project. Using the scientific method to collect and analyze data, the student disseminates the results of their original project via a written paper and an oral presentation to their thesis committee.

Prerequisite(s): Admission to the graduate Criminal Justice program and CRJU U690.
